THE ELEVENS IN GOOD TRIM:

They Have Good Records for the Season, and Will Put Up a Good Exhibition at Broad-Street Park

This Afternoon.

The football feams representing the Virginia Military Institute and the Georgetown College reached the city last night, and are ready to enter the contest for su-premacy at Broad-Street Park this after-

The Georgetown boys are quartered at Murphy's, and the "Soldier Lads" are at the Jefferson. Both reams brought justy rooters along with them, and the colors of the two coneges will commingle freely today, for there are many Georgetown boys here, as well as old V. M. I. students, and transact both tawns will be ready to friends of both teams will be ready to shour for their respective favorites. Both teams are confident of victory and both are in prime condition. The hotels presented animated scenes last night after the teams reached the

IN GOOD CODITION.

Both teams are in good trim and have splendid records for the season to defend, splendid records for the season to defend, and no doubt will put up the best article of ball this afternoon seen in Richmona since the days of the Virginia and Carolina games. The V. M. I team has played the following games during the season, and has a record yet unspotted by defeat: Washington and Lee they defeated it to 0, and two weeks later, in the game with Virginia, neither side scored. Their last same was with St. Albans School, of Radford, in which neither scored, though both played fast ball. The V. M. I team this year is one of the best-the Institute has ever put on the gridiron, averaging about 160 pounds. They are a little light, but win in their quickness, "ginger" and team work. Besides the team a good crowd of rooters came down from Lexington to put their money on the cadets. There was their money on the cadets. There was some betting last night, with odds favoring Georgetown.

The Georgetown team and twenty followers arrived last night about 11:30 o'clock, and were soon quartered at Murables where of the lunch they retired for o clock, and were soon quartered at Aur-phy's, where, after lunch, they retired for a good night's, rest. Dr. A. E. Bull, the once famous centre on Princeton, is coach-ing the team and accompanied them. The Georgetown team is about the best playing in the South, as their record for the season will show. They were defeated by the Naval Cadets early in the season by a score of 6 to 6, and in one of the pretiest exhibitions of football put up, this season played Swathmore a tie game, the St. John's 6 to 0 and rolled up the alarming score of 84 on Richmond College. The Georgetown team averages about 170 pounds, and is considered particularly strong in team work.

LEXINGTON, VA., November 9.—The football team of the Virginia Military Institute left this morning, over the Chesapeake and Ohio for Itlehmond, where Saturday afternoon they will play Georgetown. A number of friends from the In-stitute and community accompanied the soldier boys. The team is in fine condition, as the result of thorough training under Sam Walker and Dr. Carnett, of the University of Pennsylvania, and have put themselves in a condition to win.

They hope to sustain the splendid reputation made when they met the strong team from the University of Virginia, and as their worthy opponents admitted, "out-classed them and outplayed them at every point of the game.'

OBITUARY.

James Thomas Nowlan,

Mr. James Thomas Nowlan died yester morning at $:40 o'clock at his home, No Sept East Grace Street, in the fifty-second year of his age. About seven weeks ago Mr. Newlan suffered a stroke of paralysis, and had been dangerously ill since that time. On Wednesday last he began to grow noticeably worse, and for the two days before his death had been in a dying condition.

Mr. Nowlan was born in Petersburg,

September 16th, 1848, and was the only child of Elizabeth Young and Thomas Nowlan. He removed with his parents to this city in 1865. He always displayed a great deal of interest in local politics, and was for some time a member of the City Democratic Committee. During the Civil War Mr. Nowlan was a messenger boy in the Confederate treas ury department, and was intrusted with many important missions.

He was injured in the Capitol disaster.
Mr. Nowlan was also an enthusiastic fire-Position. Georgetewn. man, and up to a few years ago was ac-

A Comparis, of the Editorial of the Richmond "News" With Its Report of the City Attorney's Opinion.

(ADVERTISEMENT.)

· To the Public: Please notice the following "dendly parallel."

On the left are extracts from the leading editorial of the Richmond News of Thursday, November the 8th, and on the right is the City Attorney's opinion as published in the same issue of the same newspaper:

"THREE MEN IN RICHMOND.

"Three members of the Richmond City Council did a queer thing last night. They are members of the subcommittee of the Committee on Streets and they voted to disregard the law and to ignore a contract." * * * * * *

"The law says in plain words that when one of our street car companies uses the tracks of the other it shall pay by allowing an equal length of its track to be used by its rival. The subcommittee of the Street Committee, consisting of Messrs, Burton, Gilbert K. Pollock and Woody, calmly tramples the law under foot, tears the ordinance to pieces and throws it in the insulted and helpless face of the city, ignores the rights of one holder of a franchise and submits to the demands of an-

."The act has all the insolence and the reckless disregard of sentiment. reputation and public opinion that marked the finishing days of the late William M. Tweed, of New York. He is the man who put the memorable sneering question to the people.

". What are you going to do about

"He found out what the people would and could do about it. He died with his glazing and fading eyes looking through lears and with stripes on his strong, broad back." * * * * * * "Why should the Richmond Passenger and Power Company be allowed to use the tracks of the Richmond Traction Company in Broad Street, while the Richmond Traction Company is denied the privilege of using the tracks of the Power and Passenger Companya privilege granted by law, yet living and printed in plain type on the ordinance book? Why are the thousands of people who must travel along Main Street deprived of the quick schedules and comfortable transportation the double service would give them? Why is the law disregarded and spurned and walked over roughshod?"

"After quoting the various ordi-

"After quoting the various ordinances, sections and sub-sections of ordinances, covering the questions, Mr. Poliard's opinion reads:
"From this condition the question naturally arises—which is substantially the first question asked—What rights does this condition of things give the Richmond Traction Company upon the routes or lines of the Richmond Passenger and Power Company? To which I answer that the Richmond Passenger and Power Company, when it accepted the requirement of the city to go upon the routes or lines of the Richmond Traction Company, from Ninth to Laurel Streets, in effect conceded to the Richmond Traction Company to the Richmond Passenger and Power Company), and thus, as far as it (the Richmond Passenger and Power Company) is concerned, the right of the Richmond Traction—Company to run on its lines is complete; but it remains, in order to make the right effective, for the use of the Main Street line by the Traction Company to be 'authorized by the Council.' By the express letter of the ordinance this authority must be granted by the Council before the right can be exercised by the Richmond Traction Company to run on the line of the Richmond Passenger and Power Company to use the tracks of the Richmond Traction Company on Broad Street, from Ninth to Laurel Streets, is complete, while the right of the Street, from Ninth to Laurel Streets, is complete, while the right of the Richmond Traction Company to use the Richmond Traction Company to use the Main-Street line of the Richmond Passenger and Power Company lacks the authority of the Council for it so to do. Whether the authority should be granted, as asked in the petition of the Richmond Traction Company, is not a question of law, but a question of policy, to be determined by the Council in the light of all the circumstances. On it I express no opinion.

"Replying to your second question, I have to say that, under the conditions have to say that, under the conditions of the ordinances and status of the street railway situation, as here nbefore set forth. I am clearly of opinion that the Council has 'the power to require the the Council has the power to require the Richmend Passenger and Power Company to use its tracks on Main Street from First to Eighteenth, even though that company should not use the tracks of the Traction Company on Broad Street from Ninth to Laurel, as now nuthorized under the present ordinance, and that this rower could be exercised by the Council even though the Council should allow the Richmond Passenger and Power Company to have sepager and Power Company to have separate tracks on Broad Street."

Without discussing the questions of policy which the City Attorney has said it is the province of the Council to determine, and which were fully argued at the meeting of the sub-committee on Monday night, I respectfully ask the attention of the people of Richmond to the foregoing statement of the law and contract rights of the various companies as made by the Richmond News in comparison with the official opinion of the City Attorney delivered in writing before this colitorial could have been written.

It will be well for the public to understand the motives prompting the abuse heaped upon its representatives in the Council, and the implied abuse of its City Attorney by this newspaper, confessedly owned and controlled by the owners of the Traction Company.

Respectfully,

PROBABLE CHANGES.

The Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will convene in Norfolk next Wednesday, and as the date draws near the Methodists of anchester are becoming much interested in the changes that may be made in the pasters of this city. There are four appointments in this city—Central church, Fifth-Stre t Church, West-End Memorial and Asbury-all of which are strong con-and Asbury—all of which are strong con-gregations, and have grown constantly during the last Conference year. Rev. J. C. Reed at Central, and Rev. J. S. Wallace at Fifth-Street, are clos-ing their second years. Rev. J. R. Green and Rev. A. C. Berryman, at Asbury and West-End Churches, are just now closing their first years. It is impossible to say what changes will be mode if our but what changes will be made, if any, but it is rumored that Rev. J. C. Reed will probably be made a Presiding Elder, and in this case he will be removed. If Mr. Reed should be taken away the members of the observable. of the church will make an effort to have Rev. John Hannen, recently of the Cali-fornia Conference, appointed to Central church. Dr. Hannen is a splendid preacher.

their presentation of "A Bachelor's Romance" at the Academy of Music last evening. The performance was smooth and highly creditable, and Mr. Murphy created such an impression on his audience as to cause them to call him before the curtain for a speech. He responded in a droll harangue, in which he made several highly humorous thrusts.

Mr. Murphy wears worthily the mantle of Sol. Smith Russell, which has temporarily fallen upon his shoulders. Those who witnessed his presentation of the drama in which Mr. Russell made such a decided hit, and had had the privilege of seeing Mr. Rusself in the same role, were more than favorably impressed, and in the comparison of the two actors Mr. Murphy did not suffer. In the role of David Holmes he showed great tylent, and gave a clever and highly artistic presentation of the book-worm who is wooed and won from his books by a charming maiden.

Mr. William H. Pascoe, so favorably remembered here as the leading man in the Giffen Stock Company, was east in the role of Gerald Holmes, the editor's brother, and he was somewhat of a disappointment to his many admirers. He was given an ovation on his first appearance, but the ardor of his audience cooled off somewhat as the play progressed. He apparently misconceived the part for which he was cast, though in the final act he redeemed himself and appeared to much better advantage.

Miss Dorothy Sherrad was charming as which he was east, though in the final act he redeemed himself and appeared to much better advantage.

Miss Dorothy Sherrad was charming as Sylvia, Mr. Holmes' ward. Combining with a striking personality a great deal of talent, she worked upon the sympathy of her audience and completely captivated them. Mrs. Louise Therndyke Bouckeault hadn't a very important part in the play, but what she did she did well.

Mr. Percy Beggs, Mr. J. R. Armstrong and Mr. J. Lester Wallack were all good in their tespective parts, but Mr. Fred A. Thomson rather overdid the role of the rising and struggling literateur.

"A Bachelor's Romance" will be repeated to-day, both mathnee and night.
